

Richard Herrmann, director of the Mershon Center for International Security Studies, introduced Jessica Chen Weiss, assistant professor of political science and research fellow at the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University. Weiss visited the Mershon Center on May 27, 2010 and gave the final lecture of the 2009-2010 academic year. Her lecture was part of the Center's Seminar Series on Asian Security.

Jessica Chen Weiss, assistant professor of political science and research fellow at the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University, lectured about "Powerful Patriots: Nationalist Protest in Chinese Foreign Relations" on May 27, 2010 at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies. Her lecture was part of the Center's Seminar Series on Asian Security.

Jessica Chen Weiss, assistant professor of political science and research fellow at the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University, fielded questions from faculty and students following her lecture about "Powerful Patriots: Nationalist Protest in Chinese Foreign Relations."

Jessica Chen Weiss, assistant professor of political science and research fellow at the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University, stood with Richard Herrmann, director of the Mershon Center for International Security Studies after delivering her lecture, "Powerful Patriots: Nationalist Protest in Chinese Foreign Relations," which was part of the Center's Seminar Series on Asian Security.

Jessica Chen Weiss, assistant professor of political science and research fellow at the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University, talked with Mershon affiliate Alexander Thompson, associate professor of political science, after her lecture on "Powerful Patriots: Nationalist Protest in Chinese Foreign Relations." Weiss visited the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 27, 2010 as part of the Center's Seminar Series on Asian Security.